

WILMAH

Women in Leadership and Management in Animal Health

Are you ready to Be Bold for Career Success?

Have you ever felt stuck? Do you have days where you wonder why you are in the same role, even after working your tail off and keeping one eye open for new opportunities that interest you? In this session we will dive into the three most critical actions needed to move your career in the direction you seek, while growing and becoming your best advocate in the process. Bring a pen, an open-mind and be ready to dive into some interactive learning.

Join WILMAH and Becky Fouard for this exciting workshop at the WVC.

Monday, February 17, 6-8:00pm

Mandalay Bay Convention Center, Reef CF Level 2

Please visit www.wilmah.org/events to RSVP so that we can have enough workshop supplies for everyone! We will limit space if necessary, sign up today! This event is open to members and non-members as well as women & men. In addition, you do not need a trade show badge to attend as it is outside the exhibit hall.

Agriculture, Leadership and CrossFit are just a few of the key areas our speaker devotes her time and talents. Becky Fouard has worked for Elanco Animal Health, since 2013. She started her journey in U.S. Poultry marketing, and then moved to the Global Corporate Communications and Cause team, working on sustainable initiatives that fight hunger. In 2017 Becky lead the global marketing efforts at Elanco for a new product launch in Asia and Latin America. Becky currently works in Elanco's global Learning and Development team leading programs focused on Elanco's core leadership principles and culture.

Becky began her career in Ag at the Kansas Department of Agriculture on the Marketing and Advocacy team. Becky received her bachelor's from Kansas State University in Agricultural Communications and Journalism with a leadership minor.

Becky is from Paola, KS and is the product of many years spent in FFA and 4-H which is where she acquired her love for agriculture and interest in this industry. Becky and her husband Tristan live in Indianapolis, where they also own and operate M4G (Made 4 Greatness) CrossFit.
